Portfolio description

This portfolio looks to achieve capital growth in excess of inflation, whilst supporting inclusive economic development by investing in more environmentally and socially sustainable business practices. The portfolio will look to do this by investing in a diversified range of funds, which allocate capital to sustainable themes, such as healthcare and social housing, financial inclusion and education, the circular economy and renewable energy. The portfolio is diversified across a range of asset classes with a medium allocation to funds investing in equities (expected to be no greater than 55%) and other risk assets. Target volatility: 4.6 - 7.4%.

Portfolio pillar mapping

As part of the LGT Wealth Management Sustainable Model Portfolio Service, we have developed four sustainable investment pillars. These pillars encompass investment themes and the related the United Nation's Sustainable Development Goals (UN SDG), which they aim to support. Two of the pillars target social themes and two target environmental themes. This allows the translation of a framework based on a global, wide-reaching social and environmental change into an investable universe of ideas.

Our sustainable investment pillars

In order to better understand the thematic exposure of the portfolios, we have aligned the underlying funds to our sustainable pillars.

Key

|                                   |     |
|-----------------------------------|-----|
| Healthcare and societal wellbeing | 66% |
| Financial inclusion and education | 3%  |
| Circular economy and resources    | 9%  |
| Climate and Environmental action  | 22% |

Monthly investment update

Global equities ended the year on mixed footing as high technology valuations and diverging central bank policies encouraged investors to broaden exposure beyond the largest US tech names. The Nasdaq still finished 2025 up 21.2% and the S&P 500 gained 17.9%, but both softened into December. Europe and the UK outperformed, helped by cheaper valuations and improving sentiment, with the European STOXX 600 rising 20.7% and UK equities gaining 25.8% across the year. A weaker US dollar also boosted non-US returns in sterling terms.

Central banks moved in different directions in December. The US Federal Reserve cut rates again to 3.75% amid cooling inflation and labour softness, while the Bank of England also trimmed rates to 3.75% as UK inflation eased to 3.2%. The European Central Bank signalled rates may remain steady for longer, whereas the Bank of Japan tightened policy further due to persistent inflation and yen weakness. The key takeaway is that markets are no longer driven solely by US mega-cap technology. With valuations stretched in some areas and growth trends diverging, diversification and selectivity look increasingly important as we move into the new year.
